MISSOURI. Our accounts from Missouri this morning are full of interest. Jefferson City—the point of immediate danger—is garried by over 6,000 men. Othe ats are rapidly arriving. Gov amble calls for 42,000 Union vo 1900 from each military district,) and will two them. The combined efforts of the lilitary and civil authorities will presently have in the field an army that will make short work of McCulloch. Our prospects in Missourl are now on the high road to cess, although success may not be ob ained without a struggle.

The main body of the army did not leave Centreville until Mr. Russell was within sight of Washington, and then, instead of running and rearing before the fee, it marched in, for the most part, in good order. That's the simple truth.

COMMUNICATION WITH REBELS. It will be seen by our last night's dispatches that the Postmaster General, by order of the President, has taken rigid measures to cut off all comm tween the rebels of the South and their sympathizers in our midst. Adams's Ex preas Company, or any other company, will not hereafter be permitted to convey any messages between the loyal and rebel States.

the report of the messenger from the west, of whom he speaks, can be relied upon. Our dis-patches from Jefferson City on Sainrday night do not menton the fact that Sedalia has been say in general terms that a fight in that qua-ter is certain. have settled into his new duties with all the case of an experienced officer. Already our army is said to feel the new impulse of a master mind. Gen. Butler will remain, being arraigned more particularly to the volunteer forces outside the fort, while Gen. Wool directs the operations of the whole. It is a slight matter, to be sure, but we like the way Gen. Wool has of making the enemy at Sewall's Point the target in his practice with the Big Union Gun. He gave them a taste of the Rip Raps in fine old style, the other day.

MAXOR BEHREET.

Justice has at length been done in the case of Mayor J. R. Berret, of Washington, and at last accounts he was en route to New York, to keep company with the Baltimore prisoners in Fort Lafayette. could be have been seconded by the advisers that he had called to his ald, and whom pool policy forbade him then to change, the war would now have worn a different aspect from what it does now. But, although President, he is not an autocrat. He gorers, so far as he exercises any control over public affairs, by law and precedent, and with the help of his Cabinet. He is neither omnipotent nor omniposent. At the head of the nation, he uses others to carry out what he directs; and if the want of carne-tness on the part of his subordinates in the Cabinet, or want of youth and ability among those to whom army affairs are, beneath the Secretary-of War, directly intrusted, he is not to be too severely blamed. We have reason to know that the number of troops first called from the States did not meet his views of the crisis, tary opinion, the most authoritative in the nation, was adverse to his notions, and that, fearing to run counter to the advice of veterans, he waived his owa judgment and modified his call to meet the views of men of larger experience and more military knowledge. And here was the error—the fruitful mother of all that has followed. "Why did he not turn that has followed. "Why did he not turn out his advisers and enforce his own views?" say the accusers. The answer is plain: Mr. Lincoln was a new and untried map. The nation had not yet learned to properly estimate his honesty and ability. His principal military adviser commanded the utmost confidence of all the Afherican people, and to have run counter to his judgement, would have been a fault, in the eyes of the world, greater than that which was committed in being governed by it—grierous as that proves to have been. And so of the portion of the Cabinet that hoped, or pretended to hope, that been. And so of the portion of the Cabinet that hoped, or pretended to hope, that

It was supposed to command disturbed it by ejecting those who did not comprehend the crisis, would have been a fearful blow to the faith of the people in thousands were undecided what course to can "qualize," as the Constitution pursue, to take advantage of and use it fixes the apportionment and lays it on with fearful effect. But we need not go behind the scenes to know what Mr. Lincoln's the income tax and the tatiff, views are. His message to Congress, on the East will contribute much more to the 4th of July, is decisive. That document, every word of which was written by

West, in proportion to pepulation. The himself, every recommendation and argument of which is his own, shows his therough comprehension of the deadly struggle in which the country is engaged. the country is engaged. The call for four hundred thousand men and four hundred millions of money cannot be mistaken. He, at least, is in express, and now, seconded by the law-making power which has put extraordinary trusts into his hards, we shall soon cease to hear that he is backward in the work that he is expected to do. Conviction of his thorough uprightness, of the depth and warmth of his patriotism and of his willingness to do what the country asks for the suppression of the rebellion, has squak deep inte the popular mind; and now we can hope that when a Cabinet Minister or can hope that when a Cabinet Minister or Commanding General does not meet the ments of his place, the President is y enough grounded in popular esteem of character that weaken his efficiency in his high station, however admirable they lar cause. Every man knows of her warlike appointments. That there highest of crimes, the Northern people, have been mistakes made heretofore—that who are after all mainly to be blamed there has been an empty Treasury—that civilians have been compelled to assume functions for which they were unfitted by education and habit, and which none but civilians could be found to discharge No; let us not fall into the error from which civings could be found to discharge without drawing our competent military men from the field where there presence was necessary—is all time. And when, in the confusion resulting from sudden war and sudden mustering of 'roops under these circumstances, errors in we been committed, the outcry has been all the louder inasmuch as the soldiers were fresh from their comfortable homes, and therefore accustomed to better things. Four months of hard labor and constant practice have wrought their beneficcat work, and now the Adjutant General's Department, the Commissary General's Department, the Commissary General's Department, and the encrous and responsible duties of the Government refunding a portion of the mency advanced by the State; and there will be no more paying of seldiers in depreciated arry.

We learn also that it is the intention of the Government or bappoint a State spent to secondary each Illinois regiment whever—the goals to see personally to the comfort.

of the men—acting on the principle that the state agent to state agent to the men—acting on the principle that the state is the parent of its soldiers whether they are in the zervice of the Federal Government or any other service. This plan, adopted by Wisconsain at the outlet, he most judicious and healthful addition not only to the efficiency of the troops, but to the confidence of the soldiers in the provision made for their care. OPPOSING THE TAX-LAW.

There is no difference in principle, between the Chicago Timer and the secession sheets which have been recently suppressed by the populace, on account of their disunion proclivities. It is a little more carestaba as this:

One of the sillest forms of partisanably is displayed by the Western Republican press in its conduct towards the Federal direct tax law. They either say nothing or defend it. The fear of injuring their party by consuring a wrong act governs their course. Now all sign of the times predict a long war. The tax law is a permanent institution, meant to last for years. It nadonizedly places undue burdans upon the Western Shates, is it unparticule for their representatives to go into the acxt Congress with a demand that of the law of the stable pay in justi proportion to the support of the Government?

The probability is there will be a few more instances of "outrages" upon the "liberty of speech" in New England before long.

In Connecticut, W. W. Eston, who was the Breckinridge candidate for United States Senstor before the last Legislature, used the following language as a recent meeting in Bloomfield, in that State.

"I was told that this meeting would be broken up. Mark the prediction—within thirty days ten thousand men will be in council in Hustford county to demand that a stop shall be put to this camusole, unsafural war. The man who does not consider it such is not fit to live.

And the Bridgeport Farmer, of the same State and politics, on the 19th of July, spoke as follows:

"The rebel soldiery, as you term them, Mr. Courier, are not fighting for money. Like our Revolutionary fathers, they are fighting for their just rights.

"In the revolution of 1776 the forces of King George were the ones who fought for money. In the revolution of 1861 the forces of the deapot Lincoln are the ones who are fighting for money. Men who are fighting for their constitutional rights in 1766 did not want to be hired to do it. Neither do the men who are fighting for their constitutional rights in 1861."

A brief campaign in Connecticut, before more soldiers are sent from that State into Virginia, might be wholesome.

I have heard it said by some lately that the South will free their slaves, if we don't; and make them their friends, instead of their becoming ours. If that is so, we are losing a golden opportunity to accept an effective army, if not all "saddled and bridled" for a fight, yet ready to be. We may yet wish that we had responded to Garabaddi in his offer of 20,000 men and his lead, it we are sighting for freedom. Instead of this, our very Yankes ciergymen are going South as chaplains. Rev. Dr. Styles, of New Haven, is not the only one. There is a Rev. lately gone from Connecticut to Charieston, to a Congregational Church, who is now reported to be a chaplain in their awny. J. W. R.
A Visit to Port Warren, Boston Har-box, [Correspondence of the Chicage Tribune.] Rostow, Aug. 17, 1861.
Yesterday I took a short trip down our beautiful harbor for the purpose of "reconnoisance." Embarking on the steamboat Argo, the gentlemanly capitain and his clerk made themselves agreeable by pointing out scenes of interest, and affording every information and satisfaction to my native curiosity which unfortunately is very Tanke in its species. Boston Harbor is one of the safest and most beautiful of any along the Atlantic coast, in form resembling the contour of an egg, somewhat, with an outlet or ship channel directly opposite the city, with here and there an island to relieve the plainness of the scene, see ming to stand as seminels, and to question the ingress or egress of all "craft," whose papers are not more creditable than those of J. Davis's minions. We landed after an hour's ride, at St. George's Island, on which is eituated the finest fort in the harbor, called after that illustrious here of the revolution, whose blood was smong the first to haptise the altar of patriotism in the battle of Bunker Hill—Gen. Joseph Warren. We were politely escorted to Hessquarters by Capt Almy, one of the staff officers, where, after refreshing curselves, we were "shows around" by Gen. Andrews. Yesterday I took a short trip down our reverence for their tieneral and officers. On the whole, "Fort Warren" is a remarkable structure, and, athough it does not compare with the largest fort in the world—that of the Caar of Russia, which is eleven miles in circuit—yet it will compare with any on the Atlantic Coast. When it is remembered that the actual cost of building has reached our million two hundred and eight thousand dellars, it may be well conceived how noble a work it is; and when we are also convinced that there are many others chained along the Atlantic Coast from the Maine line to fite extreme point of Florida, thence around the Gulf up the Pacific Coast, we may well bosst of the mighty bulwarks of America. But the fate of Sunter—a source of regret, indeed—need cause no slarm for the sasty of boast of the mighty bulwarks of America. But the fate of Sumter—a source of regret; Indeed—need cause so alarm for the safety of those which remain to us intact by an importions and ruthless foe.

To General Andrews and staff, who afforded every facility for prosecuting our lequiries and informing ourself with the sace and various departments of the fort, we are deeply indebted, and congratulate our Old Bayetime in the good fortune she has had in securing in the good fortune she has had in securing in the great on kind and gentlemanly officers.

LETTER PROM VERMONT. The Military School at Norwich—Need of Stat Military Academies in the North—The Rijls Factory at Windsor, etc. [Correspondence of the Chicago Tribune.] Nonwicz, Vt., August 17, 1861. I have been stopping at this place a few days, and while here have been impressed with some considerations relative to military matters, which I want to suggest to your readers. Did you ever reflect how entirely destitute of military educational establish ments the Free States are and have been, coupared with the South? The only military school outside of West Point, in the whole North, is the Norwich University, located at this pisce, while almost every Southern State has a military Academy in full operation, and has had for the last ten years. Military edu estion has long been popular there, and many of their Academies now in operation have been established and conducted by graduates of the Norwich Californity, while at the North public epinion has frowned upon every-thing of the kind. Gen. Alonzo Jackman, the military instructor here and Adjutant General of Vermont State Militia, informs me that upwards of twenty years ago he entered into correspondence with the Adjutant Generals of li the States, with a view to establishin ewspaper called the Citizen Soldier, having that object in view; that he succeeded in en training which can best be obtained in youth, and at military achools. The South have now a large body of competent officers trained and disciplined in their State military schools, together with their proportion of West Point graduates, while the North have only their proporties of West Pointers, together with their proportion of West Pointers, together with the very few who have graduated from the schools established by Capt. Partridge, Virginis, North and South 'Garolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Kentacky, Tennessee, and I think Alabams, have each military schools. The graduates of these schools are numerous, and to them may be attributed very much of the sur prising efficiency and military spirit or an Southern army in this rebellion. Tou well know what important aid the single company of Chicago Zonaves trained by Cot. Etts worth, have given to the national cause. Very many of the graduates of this institution are accompetent to give military instruction and discipline as Elisworth, and in the real science of warfare, some far better perhaps. The study and practice of the Chicago Zonavas was contended to simple tactics I believe, yet most of them have become valuable officers in our voluntiers army. War is both a science and an art, and must be studied long to be mastered. I am thoroughly sourineed that he perple eithe North must wake up at once to the vital necessity of military education. How long this war will last no one can tell. The military schools should be emiarged or new ones established. I wish you would think of the subject, and call the public attention to it through your paper. It has not been considered a carefully as it ought. There is nothing like such schools for keeping up the ardor of the population not personally engaged in war, such military schools are better than campo of solders for instruction; camps may do for men, but for the youth of small stras. The State of Vermont furgishes them with all the arms they may require. The Rev. Dr. Bourns, Fresident, it san accomplished c New York, Aug. 24.—There were 80 appill cations yesterday at the sub-treasury for the new National loss, in sums of $50 to $5,000. $30 AND $35 EACH.

It is ead here that the large rifle manufactory of Windsor, Vermont, which has been lain tille for several years, is to be immediately put in operation making Minie guns for the Geverterment. The valley of the Connecticut never looked more beautiful than at this time. Abundant rains have preduced inxuriant crops. Notwithstanding the general loyalty of the people, there are some traitors even here in New England, and they are of the most venomous description; they openly rejoice at the defeat of the sational arms. Most of them are former office holders under that old secundrel Buchanan, and they are in my opinion in secret league with the robets. The operation of a good vigilance committee would improve their tone greatly.

[Washington Correspondence N. Y. Herald.]
In a conversation had with a gentleman who left New Orleans, I learn an important incident in the rebellion at its commencement. When the Star of the West was seized at that port, there were eight hundred and fifty regular United States uniforms at the Baton Rouge Arrenni. A plan was devised to put those uniforms on that number of men, place them on the Star of the West, and salf for Fort Pickens, for the apparent object of readforcing the fort. Gaining admittance under that idea they were at once to kill or make way in some manner with the garrison stationed there, and hold possession of it. The leader of this movement immediately integraphed to Jeff. Davis, asking his sanctions of the expedition, and he telegraphed in reply that, although they might be successful, there was designed to being overhauled by the Pensecola equation, and losing not only the vessel but the men, and advised him to abandon it, which it seems they did. THE BRYAN HALL WAR MEETING. Great Rally of the People

Hon. Judge Drummond, on taking the chair, called upon Rev. Dr. Lord to open the meeting with prayer. This clergyman offered a fervent and feeling petition that our Gov.

he third public meeting on the war.

At half past 7 o'clock, Eighalet Wood, Esq., called the meeting to order, and more the appointment of the following list of or ters for the evening:

criment might be strengthened, treason and traiters put down, and that our armies in the field and in battle might be guided and guard-ed, and that a speedy issue of our present affairs might establish liberty, peace and con-cord to the end of time.

"And from its horrid hair Shook pestilence and war that until it is crushed no other political org tion can exist, and he who fails to recogu. as comprehend this truth, is either cranically to passing events and the philosophy which teach, or a trailor in open secret sympathy treason, and at no distant day, if waged is spirit, as we insist it shall be, the angel of claif setters unto us all radiant with concount union and a prespectors and givelous future.

The substitute was passed with tremendous it is a part of the Colby stock.

2. 1. Scammon, E.q., presented the following:

Resolved, That the Union Defence Committee be authorized to increase their number, and that they be requested to circulate among our following the control of the came in which we are engaged, and that they take the most energetic and decided measure to did the Government in the afforts to put down of the country.

Mr. Clybourn offered the following fitting tribute to a gallant officer now placed at the head of Illinois troops:

Resolved, That the citizens of Chicago have learned with satisfaction the appointment of our old fellow citizen David Hunter, now Gen. Hunter, of the United States army, to the command of the Illinois volunteers, and believe that no better selection could have been made to negler con-

NEWSBOYS IN LIMBO.-Five well known newsboys were arrested on Saturday evening for the larceny of coppers from the Journal at the Armory. This is undoubtedly a portion of the same gang of young reprobates who have honored the Thinung office with their attentions. Two weeks ago the counting room was entered and ransacked, papers stolen and drawers opened, and although nothing of much value was taken, the pro-ceeding showed the snimus of the scamps.

Our New Volunteer Regiments. The reporter of the TRIBUNE Saturday visited the several encampuants in and about the city and gathered several items of interest which will be found embodied below: YATES PHALANX .- We found a portion of YATER FRALANK.—We found a portion of this fine Regiment located on Indiana Avenue upon the prairie just in the rear of Myrick's Hotel, inside of the city limits. There is an entire absence of shade, but as the parade ground is unsurpassed, the officers concluded to forego the comfert of the one for the profit of the other. The commanding officer of this Regiment is Col. Austin Light, for extreen years connected with the regular army. He served with distinction in the Indian and in the Myrican war, was an officer of Cant. served with distinction in the Indian and in the Mexicae war, was an officer of Capt. afterwards Col. May's celebrated dragoons, and a sisted in the capture of Gen. La Vega at the battle of De La Palma. He was drill-master at the Carliele Barrancks for eight years, and as might be expected, is perfectly at home in the position assigned him by his brother efficers. Forty tents are now on the ground, and the entire Phalanx will remove thither in the course of the present week. The Regiment is start filling up, and when full and perfected in the details of military science, as they will be specifly under the last uction of their officers, will be second to none in the State. The Quartermaster's and Comr. issury Departments are fully organized. The uniform adopted is the regular United States Army uniform, in secondance with the order of Gen. McClellan.

ords of Gen. McClellan.

YER NORTHWESTERN RIFLE RESULEST.

This Regiment has received about 100 recrilts since the publication of our last report, making the number now in camp about 1,000.

They ard receiving their tents and equipments. Being a Rifle Regiment they adopt the Regular Rifle uniform—grey, trimmed with green. They report to Gen. Frament some day next week, and expect to be sent to Missouri as soon as their uniforms can be manufactured. It is determined to add an artillery and a cavalry company, to be composed of the surplus commands aftered.

The Colonel desires us to acknowledge the receipt of Hespital stores, beds, pillows, mistrasses, jellies, &c., donated by Mrs. Nelson, the ladder of McVicker's Sewing Rooms, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Howen. The regiment are in om 5 to 7 A. M. Squad and Company Drills om 7% to 9 A. M. Bathing in the Lake.

Takes companies arrived at the bridge in the rear of the camp, where they were disembarked and escorted to the grounds by the regiment. The recruits were formed into line to the left and introduced to Col. White, who addressed them as follows:

Yellow robliers, wefeeme to Camp Webb. I am prond that that noble old county, no noted for its intelligence and its patriolism, has responded as liberally for the support of the Government. In this action I have no doubt you are actualed by the same motives

The Wankegan Companies then gave three cheers for Col. White, which were responded to by three cheers for the recruits, after

THE COURT OF CLAIMS-CORRUPTION,-The Court of Claims appointed by the last Legis-lature to investigate all claims against the city and look after its financial condition, are city and look after its manneal condition, are holding daily sessions at the Court House. Forty claims have been preferred, amount-ing in the aggregate to nearly one hundred thousand dollars. We shall swait the report of the Commissioners with considerable interest, and if we are not greatly mis-taken; it will be found that a deliberate and taken, it will be found that a deliberate and well nigh successful attempt has been made to plunder and rob the city.

Many of these claims are attributable to the niglect or carclessness on the part of the city efficers, to properly perform their duties. One of them is in the process of investigation show ing this state of facts. An exassistant tax collector insists that the city is indebted to him in the sum of $1,000 for his services. He was appointed in 1858, at a salary of $4,000 per annum—the appointment being for one year only. At the end of that time, receiving no notice of dismissal, he filled the office for 1850, and has not to this day been discharged. This official demands $5,000 for the three years survices. The amount paid him by the Comptreller was $1,000 for the first year, about $500 for the second, and about $300 for the third Years, which poyments the comproller under-stands were in full for all pervices rendered. As no notice was ever given of the contract, the city is undoubtedly holden for the entire amount. The investigations of the Commi-missioners will undoubtedly bring to ligh many other transactions showing at least a xceedingly loose method of conducting th

RURGLARY AND ROBBERY. The Burglars Caught and Property

A few nights since the store of J. A. Colby, No. 118 Randolph street, was entered, and his stock of gift jewelry plifered extensively, $300 worth being carried off. Superintendent Bradley set himself and his force at work to ferret out the burglars, and succeeded so well as to take into custody on Saturday five boys. of the ages of from twelve to fifteen, who are chiefly newsboys, though as is feared of others of this class, they make their largest profcrupulous. They were found to have buried the prope PITTSBURG, PA. ty on the West Side, and from this their cach on Saturd ay afternoon was taken out a hatfull of watches and various articles of joweiry. mostly of the chesp gift order, but some of the pieces being quite valuable.

Postage Stamps. In three days more the old stamps will be worthless as so many secession bank notes. The necessity of this change in stamps can only be appreciated by those who know the vast amount of them which the rebel States had gathered and hoarded up. To a great ex-tent postage stamps serve as paper currency. Small sums, and, in many cases, even large ones, are thus transmitted by mail. For some months prior to the no-pay-your-debt laws of the rebel States, the amounts thus transmitted were nususually large, and as the Postmasters turned their accounts over to the new dynasty; the sums thus paid were all stolen from the
